FOOTNOTES

1. A waiver was granted for the acute dermal toxicity data requirement based on the anticipated corrosivity of S10-Tab to skin. A Category II designation was assigned given: (i) the Category III designation for the acute oral toxicity study; (ii) the lack of any known systematic dermal toxicity for the ingredients comprising the product; (iii) the Category IV dermal toxicity result with S2-Tab (EPA Reg. No. 70060-18), a substantially similar product that has significantly lower concentration of active ingredients.
2. A data waiver was granted for the primary eye irritation data requirement since: (i) Aseptrol S10-Tab contains a chlorite level considered corrosive to eyes and (ii) the skin irritation study conducted with Aseptrol Gtab-14, a product substantially similar to Aseptrol S10-Tab, is corrosive to skin. A Category I designation was assigned.
